Executions in Cuba Continue at Rapid Rate

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Executions of the followers of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista are mounting in Cuba as the forces of rebel leader Fidel Castro continue hurry-up military trials.

Thus far about 50 Batista supporters have been executed. Nearly 8,000 are awaiting trial.

Asked on a U.S. television program Sunday why the Batista followers were being executed without open trials, Castro said: "There were not so many... two or three dozen criminals."

"They were judged," he said, adding that if anyone killed 15 or 30 people, he has no right to live.

The interview was recorded in Havana Saturday.

Correspondent Jules DuBois of Havana Saturday.

Correspondent Jules DuBois of the Chicago Tribune reported that the mutilated bodies of 100 anti-Batista prisoners were found Sunday in a mass grave on the outskirts of San Cristobal, 60 miles west of Havana.

Military authorities in Manzanillo announced Sunday that Cubans will not be allowed to witness the firing squad executions of Batista supporters. But they will be allowed to see the bodies afterward.

The announcement came after a crowd of 3,000 attended the execution Saturday in Manzanillo of six Batista supporters convicted by a military court. The announcement said public executions do not conform with our culture.

In the television interview Castro repeatedly insisted that the provisional government is being guided by public opinion and not by force.

He said his country is now and will remain a democracy. We are men of the law," Castro, a lawyer himself, declared.

Castro said on the television program that his impressions of the United States improved last year when military assistance to Batista was halted. He added he was happy the United States was quick to recognize the rebel regime.

Directorate troops Sunday began moving out of the University of Havana and the board of governors was working on plans to reopen the university. It has been closed since Castro started his revolution.

All public and private schools, closed since before Christmas, were ordered to reopen today.

Kidnaped Chionchio Baby Is Found Alive and Healthy in Apartment of Brooklyn Woman

By GORGE SYVERTSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — The kidnaped Chionchio baby was found alive and healthy Sunday night in a Brooklyn apartment. The infant girl had been the object of an intense search since she was snatched from a hospital 2½ hours after her birth nine days ago.

Police and FBI agents, acting on an anonymous tip, located the baby in the second-floor flat of Jenn Iavarone, a 43-year-old divorcee and widow with seven living children.

Her apartment is about 1½ miles from St. Peter's Hospital where the child was kidnaped late Jan. 2.

The child was returned to the hospital. Authorities said she was in good condition. The youngest baby ever kidnaped here, she was taken before her parents had the chance to have her baptized.

Mrs. Iavarone denied the kidnapping and claimed the child is hers, police said. They quoted her as saying she had delivered the baby unattended to her apartment Jan. 2.

Chief of Detectives James E. Leggett said the woman would be booked on a kidnapping charge.

First positive identification of the baby was announced by the FBI, quoting the father, Frank Chionchio, 28, a lawyer for the Port of New York Authority, said he recognized the baby on the basis of a general family resemblance and a small scar over the left eye he had noticed the night the baby was born.

I feel very happy," Chionchio said as he left the hospital to rejoin his wife, Frances, 26. She has been staying with her parents in Brooklyn.

Leggett said the baby certainly is the Chionchio child. He indicated the footprint of the baby found in the apartment matched the footprint of the Chionchio baby taken shortly after birth. He said the comparison was okay.

The blood type of the baby was identical with that of Mrs. Chionchio, the FBI said, but did not correspond to Mrs. Iavarone's.

Leggett said medical examination showed that Mrs. Iavarone did not bear a child nine days ago.

He said the woman took good care of the baby. She had plenty of experience caring for children of her own," he said.

Officials at St. Peter's said the baby weighed 7 pounds, 1 ounce when it was returned to the hospital. The Chionchio infant weighed 7 pounds at birth.

Mrs. Iavarone is a bleached-blond, 5 feet 6, weighing about 140 pounds.

Leggett said Mrs. Iavarone, a department store employee, had been married twice and had eight children. The youngest is 3. The oldest, a 23-year-old son, died last summer, he said.

Her first marriage, to John Robert Getch, ended in divorce. Leggett said; and her second husband, Peter Morello, died two years ago. The use of the name Iavarone was not immediately explained.

Gas Saturated City Back to Normal

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—This city has returned to normal after an accident which spilled 6,500 gallons of highly inflammable gasoline into a six-block residential area.

The gasoline poured out Friday when a storage tank collapsed at a bulk plant owned by Bennie Rayburn of Monticello. There was no evacuation of the area but two industrial plants suspended operations while firemen washed away the fuel with fire hoses.

The all-clear was given Saturday by Fire Chief Louie Miller. We were lucky," Miller said. One match could have caused a lot of trouble.

Violent Death Takes Nine in Arkansas

Nine persons died violently in Arkansas during the week which ended last midnight.

Traffic accidents killed two persons, shootings three, fire two, one person was asphyxiated accidentally and one was crushed in a trailer accident.

Near Hot Springs Dennis J. Robbins, 64, of Buckville, was crushed to death as a trailer overturned on him Friday night.

Deputy Sheriff G. N. Walters said Robbins was trying to free the trailer which had become mired in mud on a rural road.

Assembly to Get Integration Bills From Faubus

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he sees no possibility that Little Rock high schools will be reopened any time in the foreseeable future.

Faubus made the statement after telling a news conference he planned to offer three pieces of integration legislation to the 1959 General Assembly which convened later today.

The governor declined to say what form the new legislation might take. In the past, he has said he felt a package of segregation laws passed in August, 1958, spelled legislative session was adequate to handle the integration problem.

Under one of these laws, Faubus closed the city's four high schools last Sept. 12 after the U.S. Supreme Court refused a delay in court-ordered integration.

Discussing a ruling by U. S. District Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith, who Saturday gave the Little Rock School Board 30 days to produce a workable integration plan, Faubus said he thought school board members would be removed from office if they attempted to reopen the schools on an integrated basis.

Faubus said if the board worked out a plan satisfactory to all the people it is possible they could put it into effect without being removed.

"But it is difficult to see what plan they could devise to fulfill those requirements," Faubus said. Then he added with emphasis: "The people of Little Rock are not going to accept integrated schools at this time, despite all the hullabaloo created by such integrationist groups as the Women's Emergency Committee to Open Our Schools."

Faubus said it was possible that after observation of integrated schools in other sections, it might be shown that integration could be accomplished with any improvement in race relations and without loss of educational standards in the schools.

"But this hasn't been shown yet, whether in the north, east, south or west, where they have integrated schools," he said.

The governor declared he would never be a leader in bringing about integration.

"But when the people are ready I will not object," he said. Faubus made the comments a few hours before noon opening of the Legislature, which devotes its first day to organization and preparation for the governor's third term inauguration tomorrow.

The lawmakers apparently stand ready to follow Faubus when he asks for additional laws to support his battle against public school integration.

IBC Ordered Dissolved by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld a lower court ruling requiring dissolution of the International Boxing Clubs of New York and Illinois.

The ruling, by U.S. Dist. Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in New York, also held the Madison Square Garden Corp. and its majority stockholders—James D. Norris of New York and Arthur M. Wirtz of Chicago—along with the two clubs had violated the Sherman Anti-trust Law.

Justice Clark delivered the Supreme Court's 5-2 decision. Justice Harlan dissented, joined by Justices Frankfurter and Whitaker. Justice Stewart took no part.

Justice Ryan found the defendants had monopolized interstate commerce in the professional boxing championship field through in locking corporations, ownership of stadiums, and contracts with boxers.

Norris and Wirtz were told to sell their more than 50,000 shares of stock in the Garden, were prohibited from acting as officers of the Garden corporation, and were ordered to promote two championship fights yearly.

They appealed directly to the Supreme Court, asking reversal of Judge Ryan's ruling. Their counsel told the high court Judge Ryan's decree was so severe that a twice-weekly television fight series was jeopardized.

Oregon Holds Man Wanted in Arkansas

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP) — A man charged with wounding a woman in Arkansas was arrested in Grants Pass, sheriff's deputies announced Saturday.

Deputies said Raymond Vorn Vurner, 19, signed a statement that he carried a shotgun into Mrs. Bessie Duncan's store at College Station, Ark., near Little Rock.

The officers quoted Vurner as saying his shotgun discharged after Mrs. Duncan fired at him with a revolver to thwart a holdup attempt Jan. 5.

Vurner said he left Little Rock for this southern Oregon town last Tuesday.

Deputies said they had received Arkansas warrants charging Vurner with assault with intent to kill and robbery.

At Little Rock, hospital attendants said Mrs. Duncan, 39, was recovering from a shotgun wound in the chest.

Search on for Cargo Plane With 9 Aboard

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Two U.S. Coast Guard cutters were searching today for a huge C124 Air Force cargo plane believed down with nine men aboard in the vicinity of the rugged Kenai Peninsula's southern tip.

A Coast Guard spokesman at Kodiak said the cutter Staris was dispatched from Kodiak, and the Sedgwick sent out from Cordova. The Globemaster plane was last heard from as it approached Homer, 12½ miles southeast of here, for an emergency landing with two of its four engines out. It never arrived at Homer, which is at the base of a 5,200 foot mountain range.

The Coast Guard said the plane had radioed its trouble and an amphibious plane intercepted it. The escort plane, however, lost the Globemaster because of bad weather.

The stricken transport, according to the Coast Guard, was flying at 10,000 feet, "barely" high enough to clear the snow-covered peaks. Officials theorized the pilot might have turned back to sea and ditched in the Gulf of Alaska.

The Air Force planned to send up two amphibious planes and two helicopters and the Coast Guard was to have another two amphibians to aid in the search.

The C124 was based at Travis Air Force Base in California. It took off from McChord AFB in Washington shortly after noon Sunday bound for Kodiak, Alaska. It carried 34,500 pounds of cargo.

Officials at Travis said the plane left there with 10 men aboard, but one man got off at McChord. Reported missing were seven crewmen and an extra pilot and navigator attached to the 8th Air Transport Squadron.

It was the second Air Force transport to go down in the same general area recently. A C54 with 15 aboard crashed last month against a peak just across Cook Inlet from Homer. All died.

Symington in Challenge to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) challenged Vice President Nixon today to prove the United States is now ahead of Russia in ballistic missiles.

Symington told the Senate that if Nixon made an observation to that effect, "it is not correct—and I do not know a single impartial expert in the missile field who would support it."

The senator is a former Secretary of the Air Force under President Harry S. Truman and a member of the Senate Armed Services Special Space Committee. He took issue with information given newsmen Sunday that Nixon says the United States is ahead of Russia in developing military missiles and is catching up fast in other phases of the space race.

Symington called on Nixon to provide in percentage the number of operational ICBMs the United States will have at the end of this year compared with the number U.S. Intelligence estimates the Soviets will have.

Symington mentioned often as a potential Democratic candidate for the presidency, spoke out in the Senate shortly after Nixon left his place as presiding officer.

The question of where the United States stands in the space race is expected to come under renewed scrutiny in both the Senate and House this session.

American Air Line Flights to Be Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Airlines planned to resume half its flights today under a new contract that could earn $28,440 a year for some jet pilots.

The contract, approved Sunday, ended the last in a series of national airline strikes.

Since October, walkouts have disrupted flights by Eastern Air Lines, Trans World Airlines, Capital Airlines and American at various times.

After the 22-day American strike ended, the company immediately started partial service. A full schedule of flights was expected Tuesday.

The Air Line Pilots Assn., which called the strike against American, estimated the settlement would net its 1,500 pilots a 15 per cent pay increase and a total of five million dollars in retroactive pay. The contract dates back to August 1957.

A union spokesman said the captain of a Boeing-707 jet, which American plans to start using later this month, could earn $28,440 a year. A Convair captain, the spokesman added, could earn $17,892 a year. The old contract would have given him $15,288 a year.

American, before the strike began Dec. 19, had offered a pay increase of 10 per cent, the union spokesman said.

The new contract also provides a third pilot for jet crews. Current piston plane crews comprise two pilots and one flight engineer.

The strike cost an estimated loss of 33 million dollars to the company, its suppliers and their employees.

American is a member of a mutual aid pact of six airlines. Under this agreement, the airlines hand a struck pilot member the revenue from any extra business they attract because of the strike.

Rules Store Not Affected by Milk Prices

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that a 1955 state law which fixed milk prices does not apply in sales at retail grocery stores.

The high court made no ruling on constitutionality of the law — Act 380.

Under Supreme Court policy, the question of constitutionality is avoided if a suit can be decided on other grounds.

Sebastian Chancery Court had held the act invalid. The chancery court also ruled the measure did not exempt retail grocers.

Regarding Mr. Eldridge

Editor The Star: I read with interest your letter which appeared today in the Texarkana Gazette entitled, "An open letter to Highway Chairman Glenn Wallace." Without being the least critical, and believe me I am on your side, I am wondering if your approach is not wrong. In your letter you state that you did not run the editorial by Mr. Hussian because you knew him. (Ed. Note: meaning Wallace) personally and was confident that he would do the right thing. If he is that type man, then we, who are on the same side of this issue, should not undertake to force his resignation, but should encourage him to remain. Of course, I do not know Mr. Wallace personally, only by reputation, and it may be that you are correct because I have heard that he has a tendency to "grin with his hands." I am intensely interested in not playing into the hands of the critics of the things Mr. Eldridge stood for in his administration.

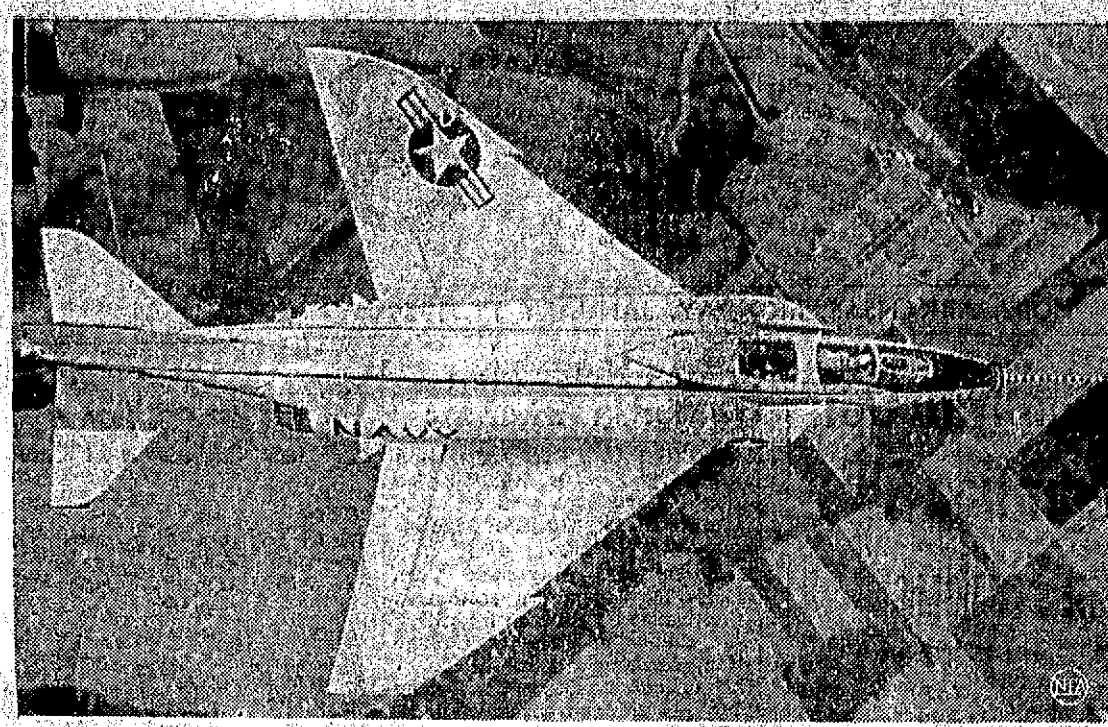

May I suggest that it first be determined why Mr. Eldridge resigned. If he did so because of personal reasons, he had a perfect right to do so, and we should begin a campaign to see that the Commission employs another man of his type. If he resigned because of political pressure—from any political source whatever—in this state, then it is imperative that we find this source and expose it with wrathful vengeance. If we should return to conditions that existed prior to the Mack-Blackwell amendment, this state will be retarded twenty-five years because it will take that long to rectify the situation—it took that long before.

As a citizen, with some knowledge of politics in this state, I am convinced that Mr. Eldridge resigned because of political pressure. If his reasons for resigning were personal, he is the type of man who would have said so, for the reason that, by keeping silent the Commission—and by your letter, Mr. Wallace—is being subjected to criticism of the severest kind. If the commission did not know that already, and his reasons had been personal, it would have said so to avoid the criticism. Hence I can reach but one conclusion: political pressure from some source. Mr. Eldridge is silent—the Commission is silent, and it could avoid that criticism by making known his reasons if they be personal.

As a citizen, with some knowledge of politics in this state, I am left in the dilemma of determining the source of this pressure. Whatever it may be worth, I am convinced that it stems from the present administration—not particularly from the Governor—but from his leaders with his permission and approval. I do not desire to state that this conviction is based upon personal knowledge.

As a citizen, I am willing to contribute to a fund which will get before the people of this State the present conditions by someone that knows more about it than I, and I know that the people will respond. Mr. Eldridge is not so popular personally, but what he stood for is highly respected and the people want it. The things he stood for and his type of conduct of the affairs of our State Highway Commission is the thing in which I am deeply interested in seeing

NAACP Calls for Reopening of Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today asked the federal courts to force reopening of the closed Little Rock public high schools.

The association asked for a ruling that state antiintegration acts under which Gov. Orval E. Faubus shut down the schools were unconstitutional.

Such a decree apparently would permit the schools to be reopened.

Attacked in the petition filed by NAACP attorney Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff were Acts Nos. 4 and 6 of last August's special legislative session.

Act No. 4 authorized the governor to close schools threatened with integration. Faubus used this power to shut down the Little Rock high schools last September and later Little Rock residents voted against reopening them on an in-afternoon with Den Mother Mrs. Bill Beck and Mrs. James Oliver assisting.

The boys opened the meeting by answering roll call with "What I Got For Christmas." During the business session they elected Bill Oliver as den mother for the month.

The boys were proud to welcome James Ellis Stewart as their den chief, and welcomed him with their den yell and gave a short talk on "Scouting" and outlined the program to follow to become Wolves.

Johnny Dedern served refreshments to Jerry and Gary Beck, David Pry, Billy Ray Hines, Bill Oliver, and James Ellis Stewart who gave the invocation.

The meeting was closed by David Fry leading the allegiance to the flag.

Branton's motion was filed in the long pending suit which led to a series of federal court decisions for integration in the Little Rock schools.

In debate on the Douglas amendment Johnson expressed confidence that the outcome of the fight over the rules "will be a fair reflection of the will of the Senate and the will of the nation."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate starts voting today on specific proposals to make it easier to choke off filibusters.

Up for action at the outset was a proposed change in Senate rules to allow a majority of the Senate, or 50 of the 98 members, to cut off a filibuster after 15 days.

Under present rules, it takes the votes of 60 senators, or two-thirds of all 98 senators, to halt a filibuster and force an issue to a vote.

The proposal for debate limitation by majority vote was offered by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) for a coalition of Northern and Western senators led by himself and Sens. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.). It was in the form of an amendment.

Churchills Off for Stay in Morocco

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston and Lady Churchill, bundled up against London's freezing temperatures, left by air today for a six-week stay in the sunshine of Morocco.

He watched in a jovial mood as his case and baggage were carried ment by Sen. Thurston Morton (R-Ky.), which would allow a debate about by three-fifths of the senators present and voting.

Once and he believes the three-fifths figure has a real chance of adoption, and Vice President Nixon was represented during the weekend as believing that it stands a better chance of Senate approval than any other.

But Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) the new Senate GOP leader, said in a television interview Sunday he expects Johnson's proposal to be adopted. He said he based that view on checks with members of both parties.

Both Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), the assistant Democratic leader, predicted also the present Congress will pass some civil rights legislation, but did not say what they expected.

Johnson's resolution has the backing of top Senate leaders of both parties, except for Senator Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), the new GOP whip, or assistant leader.

It was designed as a compromise between Southern senators opposed to any change in the present rule and the coalition of Northern and Western senators demanding debate limitation by majority vote.

On a first test vote on Friday, anti-filibuster forces went down to defeat by lopsided 80-30 count.

Won't Run Against McClellan — Faubus

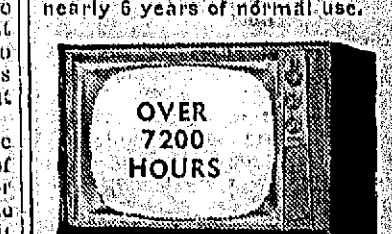

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today told news men they could put an end to speculation that he might oppose Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) in 1940.

"I am firmly committed not to run if John seeks reelection," the governor said.

Asked if this meant he might be planning to oppose Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) in 1942, Faubus said:

"That's to offer in the future to discuss at this time."

East Surprises West in All-Pro Football Game

By PATRICK MCNULTY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Billy Wade, who missed the most valuable player award by a fourth quarter pass interception, today took the blame for the West's 21-28 loss in the annual Pro Bowl football game.

But West Coach Weeb Ewbank and his fellow players don't consider the lanky Los Angeles Rams quarterback the goal of Sunday's rough and tumble battle before 72,250 Memorial Coliseum fans. "We beat ourselves through mistakes," said Ewbank, coach of the world champion Baltimore Colts.

"It was my fault," insisted Wade after the East turned the interception into a field goal and later scored a game-winning touch down.

"I knew it was risky to pass from my own 13, but I wanted to pick up some yardage and then stay on the ground," said dejected Billy.

"I threw that pass right where I wanted it," Wade said in the dressing room. "But Walt Michaels (of Cleveland) backed into it and stole it."

Moments before, Wade had marched the West 80 yards for a touchdown and a 21-16 lead in the seamy struggle among the elite of the National Football League. "Forget it, Billy. You did everything I asked you to do," said Ewbank. "You moved the ball on them."

After the interception, the East settled for a 25-yard field goal by Cleveland's Lou Groza.

Then, with less than three minutes to go, Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin rallied the East for a 70-yard touchdown drive.

Frank Gifford of the New York Giants, who beat out Wade for most valuable player, said, "I knew we had the plays. I was just worried about getting possession of that ball toward the finish. But our defense took it away from them and that's all we needed."

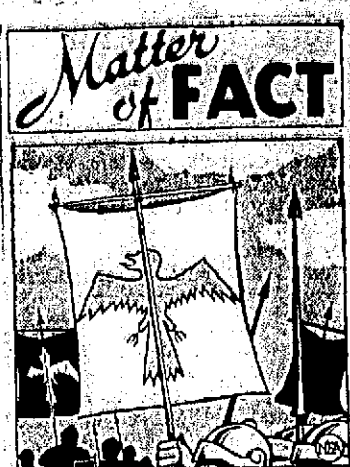

Lenny Moore of the Colts set up the first West touchdown by racing 37 yards to the one. Two plays later, Colt fullback Alan Ameche plunged over.

Later in the opening quarter, Gifford's 22-yard pass to Gene Schneider of the Giants put the ball in position for Groza's first 25-yard field goal.

Just before the first quarter ended, Gifford passed to Giant Alex Webster, who grabbed the ball on the West's 17 and raced over for the score.

The lead changed again when Wade directed the West 77 yards in 12 plays. The playoff was a pass to Hugh McElhenry of the San Francisco 49ers, who wiggled 20 yards to the end zone.

But the East led by little Eddie

The first cloth flag was the invention of the Romans. It was the vexillum, or cavalry flag, and consisted of a square banner attached to a crossbar at the end of a spear. Probably because of the resemblance of the cloth to a cross, it was used by the early Christian missionaries. When St. Augustine and his monks marched from Dover to Canterbury to convert the English, they carried such banners.

But the East, led by little Eddie LeBaron of Washington, bounced back for a touchdown and a 16-14 halftime lead. The East went 74 yards with LeBaron passing the last seven to Gene Nagler of the Chicago Cardinals.

It was the fourth victory in the nine meetings for the East.

TCU Heads the SWC, Porkers Are in Second

By DON WEISS

By Associated Press Sports Writer

Except for the NCAA, no one is stopping Auburn these days as its football and basketball teams continue rolling up concurrent streaks unmatched in collegiate history.

Plenty of football teams have had longer unbeaten streaks than Auburn's 24. A bundle of basketballers have won more than 21 in a row, the current status of Auburn's winning streak.

But no one has ever dominated both major sports at the same time the way the Tigers are now.

The basketball Tigers, who bagged their 10th straight of the season 83-54 over Florida Saturday night, and St. Bonaventure (8-0) of Olean, N.Y., are the only major unbeaten in college basketball today. The Tigers haven't lost since Alabama tripped them 83-65 about a year ago.

The football Tigers had a tie with Georgia Tech last fall but have whipped all 23 others they've met since losing to Florida in their sixth game of the 1958 season.

Both, however, have been shocking only for poll and conference recognition because the NCAA has tagged Auburn with probation through 1961 for football recruiting irregularities.

Swinging into another week of conference activity, here's the way the major races look:

SEC — Auburn (3-0) on top, with surprising Georgia (3-1) second after an 80-79 upset of Alabama last Saturday. Kentucky, too-ranked nationally, is 2-1 with Mississippi State.

Southwest — Texas Christian (3-0) the leader, with Arkansas and tied at 2-1.

Atlantic Coast — National powers North Carolina State (5-0) and North Carolina (4-0) running one-two.

Missouri Valley — Cincinnati (3-0) leads second-place Bradley (2-1).

Big Ten — Minnesota leading at 1-0 with five others, including co-favorites Northwestern and Michigan State, tied at 2-1.

Southern — West Virginia (5-0) threatened by Virginia Tech (3-0) and William & Mary (5-1).

Big Eight — Savored Kansas State tied with Kansas and Oklahoma at 2-0.

Big League — Dartmouth and Skyring — Utah (2-0), challenged by Brigham Young (1-0).

Rocky Mountain — Perennial leader Idaho State locked with Colorado State College at 2-0.

Pacific Coast — California and Southern California both 3-1, Stanford and UCLA a half game behind.

Ohio Valley — East Tennessee (2-0).

Mid-American — Kent State (2-

Judge Orders Probe of Spa Gambling

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge P. D. Dobbs today instructed the Garland County Grand Jury to make a complete investigation of the gambling and liquor sale situation here.

He said the probe should include an inquiry into any alleged political reprisals in connection with recent developments.

And he told the jury to pay special attention to places catering to minors.

The judge asked for a full report with recommendations from the jury.

Last week the Citizens and White Front Clubs on Central Avenue were closed by court order after they defied an informal shutdown directive.

Other gambling establishments and bars are still operating, Dobbs noted in his jury charge, but there had been speculation that they too would be closed.

He said that as far as he was concerned that was not true.

He said he ordered the places closed in good faith on petition of the prosecuting attorney. He said he had no choice in the matter, but that if he had he still would have closed them.

He said the jury investigation should be complete, fair and impartial.

After the judge made his charge, a number of witnesses appeared before the grand jury. All were asked to appear but were not formally subpoenaed. They included Mayor Floyd A. Housley, motel operator Gerald Vandorlice, Bob Tarvin, assistant to the president of the Arlington Hotel Co., C. M. King, president of the Ball House Assn., contractor Joe McRae, Sheriff Leonard Ellis, Police Chief John Erney, Dr. Martin Eisele, new president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. D. B. Slough, a former member of the Hot Springs Civil Service Commission.

Jury foreman Al Gulce said it was unlikely that any report would be submitted today.

Gambling and bar sales of liquor are illegal in Arkansas, but nevertheless, generally are permitted at Hot Springs except during the city's periodic "shutdowns."

Two Killed in Big California Pileup

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — A big truck and trailer flipped over on fog-shrouded U.S. 99 while trying to make a turn.

Within minutes two persons died and nine others were hurt in this split-second chain of events Sunday.

A second truck-trailer hit the first.

Trucks and cars, blinded by the fog, began smashing into each other.

Manuel Granha, basketball coach from Hayward, Calif., and one of his players, Eugene Giler, 34, were trapped in a car which caught fire. Both burned to death. Two other boys in the car escaped, but were seriously burned.

Seven other persons were injured as 14 other cars collided in the fog. One bus smashed into a halted car ahead. A second bus veered to one side and had its paint scorched when it braked to a halt next to the burning car. No bus passengers were hurt.

WILD SUMMIT

"You want any answers," the man with the rifle said, "go scratch for them."

Chapter I

Sundown was less than an hour away when Gil Yeager cleared the monotony of the far-running scorched-brown desert and put his horse, to the swift uplift of the timberdark country ahead.

"Erect in his saddle he showed shoulders that were gaunt but solid and he was markedly spare and tight-belted about the middle like one who had traveled far and fast on scant rations. And while his glance now reflected a swift picasure as though finding here a return to something well longed for there was a fabled ruggedness in his angular weather-blackened features a settled overlay of wary harshness. The tough shadow of this same bleak reticence lay in his deep-set stone-gray eyes.

His gear showed hard usage and his clothes were worn to a faded raggedness. The bundle of possessions tied behind his saddle cantle was meagerly thin.

Here presently the way led through a marshy meadow tucked in the timber against the hill slope, and here a cold trickle of spring water was trapped in a small pool. After the brutally thirsty miles of the desert both rider and horse drank thankfully. Moving on he came after another short climb to the fence.

Newly built the three strands of barbed wire made a tautly stretched barrier. Equally new was the sign nailed to the trunk of a towering ponderosa pine tree.

THIS TRAIL IS CLOSED!
BY ORDER OF THE SUMMIT LAND & CATTLE CO.
MADE IN TEXAS, HOPE, ARK.

"Brownie," he told his horse, "I think I'll tear it down." To this he got a swift startling answer.

"Not today mister!" Yonder past the fence a man stood half-concealed behind the shadowy bole of another lofty pine—a man with a rifle couched across his arm.

"So?" drawled Yeager thinly. "That's the way things are eh?" "That's exactly the way they are," came the blunt retort.

Yeager took another look at the sign. "Meade Bastian. A new one. Used to be a fellow named Rand—Breck Rand who?" "Bossed that thieving outfit. Somebody kill him? If they didn't they should have."

"You want any answers?" the man with the rifle said "go scratch for them."

Simmering Yeager reined off through the glooming timber paralleling the run of the fence. He had no idea how far the wire would reach but certainly he reasoned no farther than Mission Grade and the stage and freight road there.

It was fully dark when he reached Mission Grade and turned into it and evening's first stars were high and glittering by the time his weary horse put the last of the grade's dusty climb behind slumping hoofs and across the far distance of the flat the lights of Tuscarora beckoned.

Coming in on the town there was little to make of it beyond the yellow square of a window or the rectangle of an open door shining against the black bulk of a building yet the sight sent a gust of eagerness through Yeager. For here was home range and he'd been long away and the return was good.

He rode in with caution circling until the reined odors of Johnny Hock's freight and stage stables and corals lifted strong to his nostrils. Here he unsaddled turned his horse into a feed corral and raked his scanty gear on the fence.

At a lighted window he paused and peered in to see Johnny Hock's broad back and round bristle-haired head bent over a paper-littered desk. Yeager smiled grimly and moved on to the door of the place.

Hearing his office door open

Johnny Hock made grumbling comment without turning or looking up.

"All right — all right I'm busy — but what do you want?" "Grub first Johnny. After that the loan of a gun."

Grunting as though he'd been hit in his fat middle Johnny Hock straightened and came around all in one move. For a moment held by surprise he merely stared. Then he bounced to his feet.

"Gil Gil Yeager!" He crossed the room with a rush and yanked down the window shade. Next he was at the door pushing Yeager aside so that he might turn the key. After which he swung Yeager's hand again and again all the time gruffly scolding.

"Man, what are you doing here? You asking to be locked up again Don't you know Klint Hyatt's got a $500 reward dodger out for you?"

"Yeah, I know about the dodger, Johnny. I've been tearing it down all the way from Two Rivers to here."

Nothing funny about it that I can see," growled Johnny Hock severely. "What's your idea, showing here?"

"I wrote you that I'd be back." "I just couldn't figure you ever catching up with Shad Emmett. You did, though And he talked Yeager nodded. "Enough. Now, how about that grub — and a gun?"

"The grub makes sense," Johnny Hock said. "But I don't like the idea of the gun. That sort of thing can earn you more trouble."

There was a big bowl of savory stew, several thick slices of bread, a generous wedge of pie and a jug of hot coffee. Though his hands trembled with a famished eagerness, Yeager ate slowly, and as the much-needed nourishment began to take hold, he steepled and relaxed, and the lines of his face softened and lost some of their harshness.

"And after grub and a smoke, it's sleep for anyone who looks as fagged as you," Johnny Hock said. "There's a bedroll in the back room. Go turn in. Come morning we'll talk things over some more."

"Morning!" exclaimed Yeager. "No, John, not morning. Tonight. I got to see Judge Carmody. Can you get him down here?"

"Probably — if I can make him understand how important it is." Yeager came swiftly around, the line of his jaw pulling taut.

"Tell him it's as important as a man's good name and his liberty, as his right to walk among other men, free, and with a cleared record. Tell him that, John."

"Then I'll get him down here," Johnny Hock promised. "I'll get him if I have to hog-tie him and lug him over my shoulder."

"Fine! Now, how's for that gun?" "What do you want it for?" "To round up Klint Hyatt and bring him here. I want him in on this, to."

Johnny Hock went into another of the desk drawers and came up with a heavy caliber six-shooter. He handed it over with a shade of reluctance.

"You won't run wild, will you?" Yeager hefted the gun, then shoved it down inside the waist band of his faded, ragged jeans.

"No wilder than I takes to make Klint Hyatt stand still while Judge Carmody hears the truth of things."

"And you," Johnny Hock cautioned, "you keep an eye out for Ollie Ladd, even more than you do for Klint Hyatt. For when you clubbed Ollie down during your jailbreak, you left him with a large-size hate which he will nurse forever, him being the sort he is. He's made talk of what he'd do to you, should he ever meet up with you again."

From the doorway, Yeager showed a hand, mirthless grin. "A man on the dodge never gathers much in the way of money, John. But he does take on a thick rind of callous. So, if you want to see what another tough one looks like, consider me See you soon."

He went along the walk and was just short of the store's open door when two people stepped from it, to pause for a moment in the flare of light. A clear glimpse of one of them made Yeager whirl close against the store front and lose himself in the darkness there.

Laurie Benedict! Her head was turned, her face to the light as she smiled at what her companion was saying. Her hair lay smooth and glossy about her head, and the curve of her chin and throat was as faultless and lovely a line as ever.

Her companion, a compactly built, lithe-moving man, was a stranger in Yeager's eyes. Though his face was partially in shadow, Yeager got the impression of an aquiline cast of feature and a glint of white teeth as a low, forced remark ran off into a light laugh.

The pair sauntered away up the street and across to the Summit House, there pausing for a moment in the lights of the porch. After which Laurie entered the hotel, while the man came back through the darkness of the street.

Graham Goes Ahead With Crusade Plans

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham went ahead with his plans for a world crusade today in the face of advice by physicians to curtail his activities, because of an eye ailment.

Graham told reporters that he intends to go to Australia, Indonesia, Malaya, Cairo, Jerusalem and Berlin this year.

He was interviewed after making a zealous talk before the second Combined Texas Baptist World Missions and State Evangelistic Conference in the packed 11,500-seat Memorial Auditorium. Graham's illness earlier caused him to cancel a scheduled appearance at the Dallas First Baptist Church.

"The program may be cut somewhat by doctor's orders," Graham said of his projected tour, "but right now I plan to go."

He had announced previously he would go to Rochester Tuesday for a check-up at a Mayo clinic instead of leaving for the West Coast en route to Australia.

Graham insisted he felt all right but "there's something wrong with one of my eyes."

"But I don't know what it is," he continued. "The doctor told me what it is — a long technical name — but I think he's as confused as the Republicans are these days."

"I spent two days in doctors' offices and about midnight last

Matter of FACT

Under the Articles of Confederation, which governed the infant United States from 1781 to 1789, there was no chief executive. The "president" was the officer who presided over the congress created by the articles. It was not until the Constitution went into effect in 1789 that there came into existence the office of president as we know it today.

night I got orders not to preach," he said of his canceled church appearances. "I don't have cancer. I've had no heart attack, I haven't had a stroke and I'm not blind."

Graham said he will speak today at a luncheon to about 1,100 business men and tonight before the church group.

Graham's father-in-law, Dr. L. Nelson Bell of Montreal, N.C., cabled Australia that the eye ailment is a "rare and serious condition brought on by excessive

Ike, Mikoyan Will Discuss Berlin Crisis

By JOHN M. HIGHOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to impress upon Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan this week that the Western allies have no intention of abandoning West Berlin or creating a neutralized Germany.

Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's top deputy will meet at the White House late this week, following further policy discussions between Mikoyan and Secretary of State Dulles.

The Soviet visitor met with both Dulles and Vice President Nixon a week ago before starting his present tour around the country. Interest in the forthcoming discussions was sharpened over the weeked by two surprise Moscow work, strain and stress." Dr. Bell said Graham's eye was examined at Louisville, Ky., Friday, where he addressed the Baptist Theological Seminary.

The evangelist told his Dallas audience that the world must solve its problems quickly, noting that Oak Ridge scientists had told him the hydrogen bomb now is obsolete and that we have much deadlier weapons.

We are living in a world stricken with conflict, frustration and confusion. We're living in a time of revolutions and they are getting closer and closer to us all the time," Graham continued.

moves. 1. In notes to the United States and 20 other countries that fought Nazi forces in World War II, the Soviet government proposed a 22-nation conference to meet at Warsaw or Prague in two months to write a German peace treaty. The 12-page note was accompanied by a 25-page detailed outline for a treaty, including provision for withdrawal of Western and Soviet troops from Germany and a ban on German membership in any military alliance. West Germany is a member of NATO.

2. In a second note Saturday night, the Soviet Union called for resumption of East-West talks on the problem of preventing surprise attack in the nuclear missiles age. The United States responded promptly with a statement saying it favors resuming the talks — which broke down at Geneva Dec. 18 — but wants an agreement with the Soviet Union on the range of problems they should deal with.

Both notes were received at the State Department Sunday. But even before the German peace treaty plan came in, officials said on the basis of a Moscow announcement Saturday that it was clearly unacceptable.

One of the provisions of the Soviet plan for Germany was that West Berlin should be converted into an unarmored free city until East and West Germany are reunited. Pending unification, the proposed peace treaty would be made with both the Communist East German regime which the Western powers have declined to recognize and the anti-Communist West German regime.

Mikoyan in his talks in Washington and other cities has given no evidence of any weakening of Soviet policy on German questions. If Mikoyan came here with any really new propositions or concessions in his pocket they are still there, but many U.S. officials feel that he may spring a surprise when he sees Eisenhower.

The basis of this reasoning is that Soviet leaders, notably Khrushchev, have made no effort to hide their dislike of Secretary Dulles. It is felt, therefore, that if Khrushchev had an important card to play he would prefer that the play be made to Eisenhower rather than Dulles.

Mikoyan's visit with Nixon apparently was cordial. Their discussion included a tentative invitation for Nixon to visit the Soviet Union, but the vice president declined that would be difficult to arrange.
